RE: RECOMMENDATION

[REDACTED] began distributing Sirius chemical injector products in mid-2012. Over the last two years we have consistently increased the number of Chemical Injection Systems into the Southeast Saskatchewan field which has given us, along with our customers, a first-hand look at just how field proven the Sirius product is. It sits above and beyond all other chemical injector products we've dealt with based on the simplicity and accuracy of rate control, the durability and low maintenance, their versatility and ability to customize their product towards a particular end users chemical needs, its ability to be a SOLUTION for an end user on optimizing their chemical program and having a significant long term savings aspect attached to it. The service of Sirius has been second to none also; they have a knowledgeable sales team and a refreshing willingness of their engineers to speak directly to myself and/or the end user if ever questions of any technical level are posed. We at [REDACTED] have no ties to any specific chemical injector supplier, but I can say when recommending the best product possible for our customers chemical needs, I'll confidently recommend Sirius every time!
