RE: Sirius Reference Letter

is a startup specialty chemical company focused on providing long term protection for midstream produced water infrastructure primarily in the Permian Basin. Our mission is to provide custom chemistry, best in class service level, real-time automation and the best pricing in the basin.

When we were looking for the right pump provider for our business, we researched all the competitors in this space and determined Sirius Controls was by far the best in class solution for our value proposition. Their pump, tanks & containment, controller functionality and Insight connect are unmatched in this space.

The Insight Connect remote monitoring and 4-20mA / Modbus real-time automation to our customers inlet flowmeters guarantees exact dosing at the parts per million treatment design. Most chemical companies with competitor pumps typically inject 30% or more than they should thereby having their customers pay much more than they should for their treatments.

The fusion pump itself is fabulous in the design and low maintenance. The built-in calibration routines ensure accurate injection rates and provides a valuable level of confidence that we are treating our customers systems accurately thereby protecting their large investments in produced water infrastructure.

The Sirius teams in Midland and Canada are first class, from their service levels, facility & manufacturing plant operations to their business friendly attitude for their customers. They are a great business partner!

Best Regards,
