

To Whom It May Concern,

I have nearly exclusively been using Sirius Pumps since 2019 for my chemical injection needs. The Smart IIOT systems that they offer give me real time access to my pumps for seamless rate changes and monitoring. The original pumps that were purchased are still running today with some minor maintenance, which is a testament to their durability. The field support team is top notch and helps troubleshoot minor problems, while quickly fixing larger ones outside of our ability to remedy. These things have allowed us to provide better service and transparency to our customers.
